I have learnt that this troll is famous in the USA and elsewhere. It looks like he has several hundred politicians, academics, researchers, and others. Quite an achievement for one person. It looks like he knows several hundred enemies across the world. So no, surprise that he's been ban...

** Fixated Loner

Psychiatrists who studied the phenomenon of online strangers attacking members of the royal family discovered it was just a few completely obsessed loners. This was a surprise as it looked at first as if a large popular movement was engaged in the ongoing and extremely ugly attacks. They discovered in each case that it was just one person, a loner who was extremely fixated and busy: it had become their whole life.

Madin uses these images of himself online:

This is a posting on Academia.edu by Earle de Blonville on April 13, 2020. This "warning" is the only publication on Issuu.com by a user named Kmadin 182. That is a fake account, made by Earle, using an image of me taken from my FB page. <https://issuu.com/madink182>

It would seem pretty obvious that I would not create an account with my own name and picture and then publish something that bizarrely claims to be a warning about myself as a troll and stalker. And I have no idea what that bit about "going a bit Mongolian" is supposed to mean.

Earl persists in posting things with no basis in fact or reality and with equal energy ignores facts and reality that are available to anyone with a few minutes and a computer.

For instance, there is no such thing as the "International Troll Register". And then we have the irony of "published under Freedom of Speech Regulations". Earl is free to publish anything he likes but unlike this publication he has to take ownership rather than pretending this was created by some non-existent Troll Register. And while he is free to spew inanity, when it crosses the line to defamation (saying false things that damage a person's good name, then he is in legal jeopardy. And he knows it, which is why we see this juvenile effort to pretend that someone other than Earl wrote this baldassh.
